DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 13 and 15 are objected to because of the following informalities: Claim 13 is dependent on canceled claim 7. It is recommended to change dependency to claim 1. Also claim 15, end of line 2, has a typographical error. Instead of "into product", it should be "cast iron product". Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1 and 8 to 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over UK patent 1,482,724 for the reasons set forth in the previous office action dated 9-28-04.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 12-02-04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.
5. It was submitted that UK'724 does not teach or suggest the alloy composition now set forth in independent claims 1 and 15. It is the examiner's position that UK'724 in claims 1 and 2 on pages 2 and 3 disclose a cast iron having a composition with alloying constituents whose wt% ranges overlap those recited by the claims; such overlap renders applicant's composition prima facie because it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to select the claimed ranges from the broader disclosure of the prior art because the prior art has similar utility of using alloy for components in a combustion engine, see lines 16 to 30 of column 1 on page 1, and has lamellar to nodular (spheroidal) graphite, see line 41 to 45, column 2, page 2. See MPEP 2144.05.

6. To distinguish claims over prior art, applicant needs to demonstrate (e.g. by comparative test data), that the more narrowly claimed alloy ranges are somehow critical and productive of new and unexpected results.
